PUBLICATION OFFICE, 31 AND 32 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

VOL. XXVII., No. 19.

NEW YORK, May 9, 1885.

WHOLE No. 693.

NEW NOVEL BY DR. HAMMOND.

READY SHORTLY:

MR. OLDMIXON.

A NOVEL.

By William A. Hammond, M.D., author of "Lal," "Doctor Grattan," etc. 12mo, cloth. Price, $1.50.

In "Mr. Oldmixon," Dr. Hammond considers several phases of New York life from new points of view, and presents pictures the truth of which will be readily recognized, but which it is believed have not hitherto been drawn by the novelist. "Mr. Oldmixon" is dramatic from first to last, and the climax is calculated to make an impression not easily forgotten.

NOW READY:

An Elementary Treatise on Dynamics.

Containing applications to Thermodynamics, with numerous examples. By BENJAMIN WILLIAMSON, F.R.S., author of "An Elementary Treatise on the Integral Calculus," etc.; and F. A. TARLETON, LL.D. 12mo, cloth. Price, $3.50.

Dangers to Health.

A Pictorial Guide to Domestic Sanitary Defects. By T. PRIDGIN TEALE, M.A. With 70 lithographic plates. 8vo, cloth. Price, $3.00.

A new supply of this important work is now on hand.

D. APPLETON & CO., Publishers, 1, 3 and 5 Bond Street, New York.

Houghton, Mifflin & Company

WILL PUBLISH, SATURDAY, MAY 16th:

The Russian Revolt.

By EDMUND NOBLE. 1 vol. 16mo, $1.00.

This is a peculiarly timely book, with special claims to attention. It gives the origin and history of the chronic Russian revolt, which is now known as Nihilism, and is based on ten years' careful study of Russian subjects, and two years' travel and residence in Russia. One chapter treats the relation of the revolt to Europe. There is no other book in any language which contains the historical information given in this book, or which discusses with adequate knowledge the conditions and developments of the long and tremendous struggle in Russia for justice and freedom.

A Marsh Island.

A Novel. By SARAH ORNE JEWETT, author of "A Country Doctor," "Deep-haven," etc. 1 vol. 16mo, $1.25.

A fresh novel by the author of "A Country Doctor" will be welcomed by a host of readers eager to procure a thoroughly good and delightful story for summer reading. Miss Jewett has never written anything more vigorous or charming than "A Marsh Island," as those will gladly testify who have followed it as it has appeared in THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

The Riverside Aldine Series.

An entirely new and tasteful edition of books of standard and popular character.

VENETIAN LIFE. By WILLIAM D. HOWELLS. In two volumes. $2.00.

A new and beautiful edition of a book which the North American Review pronounced "delightful," and which led the Pall Mall Gazette to say that "Mr. Howells deserves a place in the first rank of American travelers."

WAKE ROBIN. By JOHN BURROUGHS. 1 volume. $1.00.

CONTENTS: The Return of the Birds; In the Hemlocks; Adirondac; Birds'-Nests; Spring at the Capital; Birch Browsings; The Bluebird; The Invitation.

"One of the most fascinating descriptive writers."—Hartford Courant.

N. B.—A limited number of copies of the first edition of the volumes in the Riverside Aldine Series can be procured in special binding, red cloth, with uncut edges, and paper title. Price, $1.50 each.

JUST PUBLISHED:

Samuel Adams.

By JAMES K. HOSMER. Vol. III. of "American Statesmen." 1 vol. 16mo, gilt top, $1.25.

A very engaging biography of one of the most conspicuous and commanding figures in the history of America during the years just preceding and including the Revolution.

NINTH THOUSAND.

Ralph Waldo Emerson.

By OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. With portrait of Emerson, $1.25.

NINTH EDITION.

In the Tennessee Mountains.

By CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK. The most remarkable short stories published for many years. $1.25.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. have ready "Aulnay Tower," by Blanche Willis Howard, author of "Guenn," etc., a romance of the period of the Prussian siege of Paris, the action taking place in a rural chateau, just outside the camp of the besieging armies. New editions of the author's other books "Guenn," and "Aunt Serena," are also ready.

D. APPLETON & Co. will issue very shortly "Mr. Oldmixon," a new novel by Dr. W. A. Hammond, in which are considered several phases of New York life from new points of view. They have just ready "An Elementary Treatise on Dynamics," containing applications to thermodynamics, with numerous examples, by Benj. Williamson and F. A. Tarleton.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have just issued "Southern Alaska and the Sitkan Archipelago," by Eliza Ruhama Scidmore, fully and handsomely illustrated, containing valuable and authentic information relating to the rich resources of the country, which she has visited in all seasons; also "Wide Awake, Volume T," the complete volume containing Charles Egbert Craddock's serial story "Down the Ravine," and three hundred original illustrations.

HARPER & BROS. have commenced the issue of a new series of publications to be called Harper's Handy Series, which is intended to include instructive and entertaining books in biography, history, travel, fiction, and general literature, and which will be published weekly. The volumes of this series, of which the first is "That Terrible Man," a novel, by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," etc., are to be of a handy sixteenmo shape (6 3/8 x 4 3/8 inches), bound in tasteful paper covers, and sold at about 25 cents. The second number, just ready, is "London Society," which has created something like a sensation in literary London.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish next week a book on "The Russian Revolt," written by an Englishman, Mr. Edmund Noble, now living in this country. He has made an exceedingly careful study of Russian history and society, both from books and in Russia; and his account of the origin and development of the permanent revolt, which just now is known as Nihilism, is remarkably engaging. The book would not lose its value or interest even if peace should be made at once between Russia and Great Britain. At the same time will appear Miss Jewett's new story "A Marsh Island," which is likely to be one of the special favorites for summer reading in the country and at the seaside; and two fresh numbers in the exquisite Riverside Aldine Series, Howells's admirable "Venetian Life," in two volumes, and Burroughs's "Wake Robin," in one volume.

ROBERTS BROTHERS have just ready the volume of "New Poems," by Jean Ingelow, printed from advance sheets furnished by the author. The poems in this collection are said to resemble more nearly those in her first volume than anything she has written since. They have also issued "The Fall of the Great Republic, 1886-88," by Sir Henry Standish Coverdale, Intendant for the Board of European Administration, in the Province of New York, which describes the "political and social revolution by which, in a few months, the Great Republic, a nation of grand promise, with a history unequalled for its century of growth and achievement, was transformed into the most pitiful wreck of all time." "Landscape," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, author of "The Intellectual Life," issued in the 12mo form uniform with his other works, is, as the author relates in a letter to his publishers, not a mere letter-press to illustrations or anything of the kind, but a book which, he hopes, that anybody who takes any interest in landscape will be glad to possess.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

REV. W. R. ALGER author of "Future Life," etc., sails for Europe about May 20th.

REV. E. E. HALE will visit Europe this summer, particularly Paris, in the interest of his forthcoming work "Franklin in France."

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON is at present engaged upon a new story for boys. It is to be published as a serial in the Young Folks' Paper, in which "Treasure Island," and "The Black Arrow," by the same author first appeared.

OUIDA has written a story called "Othmar," the scene of which is laid in Russia, and the characters belong to the highest ranks of society. It is to be issued as a serial in The People. This is the first time, we understand, that Ouida appears in serial form.

Ely, R: T. Recent American socialism. Balt., Johns Hopkins Univ., 1885. 74 p. O. (Johns Hopkins Univ. studies, 3d ser., no. 4.) pap., 75 c.

The aim of this monograph is to present clearly the leading principles of American socialism, or, in the author's words, "I have tried first to understand American socialism, and then to present it in such manner that others may likewise understand it." To some extent a second enlarged and revised edition of articles which appeared in the Christian Union a year ago.

Farmer, Silas. The history of Detroit and Michigan; or, the metropolis illustrated: a chronological cyclopædia of the past and present, including a full record of territorial days in Michigan and the annals of Wayne County. Detroit, Mich., Silas Farmer & Co., 1884. 46+1024 p. il. Q. hf. mor., $10.

"Mr. Farmer's work seems to have been undertaken in the true historical spirit, and executed with painstaking and conscientious care. The author tells us, in his preface, that he found it impossible to carry along in one narrative all the various themes pertaining to the history of the city of Detroit and its surrounding territory, therefore he classified the different branches of the subject and treated each in a special manner by itself. One notable chapter of thirty pages is devoted to the British and Indian wars, the French and Spanish intrigues, and the War of the Revolution. Another chapter treats of Indian affairs from 1790 to 1812; and two chapters contain the history of the War of 1812. . . . The 'Conspiracy of Pontiac,' and the 'Biography of Cadillac,' also form chapters of peculiar attractions. . . . One third of the work is occupied with matters appertaining to Michigan in general, owing to the close relation of the city to the territorial government. A novel feature of this history is nearly one hundred pages of continuous city—the homes of the citizens of Detroit—illustrated. There are not less than one hundred and seventy houses thus pictorially presented in well-executed engravings. Following these, the chapters of ecclesiastical history are also illustrated with seventy or more churches."—From Magazine of Am. Hist.

Griswold, W. M. The Q. P. Index annual for 1884. Fourth annual issue. Bangor, Me.,

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record. This list will be reprinted, verbatim, with all the notices of the books received, in the TRADE LIST ANNUAL.

Q. P. Index, 1885. 57 p. O. (Q. P. Indexes, no. 17.) cl., $1.

A key to the contents of upward of thirty American, English, and German periodicals for the year 1884. For the major part of these Mr. Griswold also furnishes a tabular statement of the number of the last page in each monthly issue.

Grosvenor, W. M. Trades-unions: investigated in the light of common-sense. N. Y., Commercial Bulletin Print, 32 Broadway, 1885. 39 p. O. (Popular economic ser., no. 1.) pap., 15 c.

The author is not in favor of trades-unions, and points out very forcibly what he considers their evil influences. His opinions are evolved in a series of conversations between two trades-unionists, one of whom is not ready to follow blindly in the footsteps of his associates. The questions discussed are: Do trades-unions secure better wages? The effect of unions on labor; Cutting down production; What limits the profits of capital? A government of the noisiest; Duties to country and family.

Guernsey, F. R., and Machado, Juan F., comp. A B C Spanish phrase-book for American travellers in Mexico and all Spanish-speaking countries; with a concise treatise on pronunciation. Bost., E. P. Call, 1884. 128 p. T. pap., 50 c.

Hay, Mary Cecil. The Arundel motto: a novel. N. Y., J. W. Lovell Co., [1885.] 400 p. S. (Lovell's lib., no. 566.) pap., 20 c.

Henry, Rev. B. C. The cross and the dragon; or, light in the broad east; with an introductory note by Jos. Cook. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1885.] 21+483 p. maps and il. D. cl., $2.

Presents a comprehensive view of the Southern portion of the great empire of China in relation to the work of missions. In the opening chapters the natural features of the country, the distribution of its vast population, and the facilities for reaching the people are clearly set forth. The life, customs, and characteristics of the people, their three great systems of belief—Confucianism, Buddhism, and Taoism—are treated in a popular way, with abundance of illustration and anecdote. The peculiarities of ancestral worship and Geomancy or Earth Divination, the popular objects of worship, the feasts, pastimes, and the rich folklore of the people are presented with a vividness due to familiarity with the daily life of the people.

Hill, D. J. Principles and fallacies of socialism. N. Y., J. W. Lovell Co., [1885.] 96 p. S. (Lovell's lib., no. 533.) pap., 15 c.

How to build, furnish, and decorate: consisting of elevations and plans for houses, barns, and every description of outbuilding, accompanied with clear and concise instructions; also a complete treatise on house furnishing and decoration. 2d ed. enl. N. Y., published by the Co-operative Building Plan Assoc., [Rob. W. Shoppell.] 24 Beekman St., 1885. 230 p. il. F. cl., $5.

The publishers of this work claim for it an unusual variety of designs, more than twenty different architects having contributed to its pages; the designs are all economical and good and substantial, and at the same time artistic. The work is divided into four departments, the first being devoted to "Building plans," the second to "Furniture and decoration," the third to "Barns and out-houses," and the fourth to "Law, legal forms, specifications," etc. The best and cheapest plan is the one advocated throughout the work. The descriptive text is full, and well written.

*Lenâpé (The) and their legends; with the complete text and symbols of the Walam Olum; a new translation, and an inquiry into its authenticity, by D. G. Brinton, M.D. Phil., D. G. Brinton, M.D., 1885. O. (Lib. of aboriginal American ser., no. 5.) cl., $3. Embraces a series of ethnological studies of the Indians of Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Maryland. The Walam Olum, or Red Score, was a record supposed for a long time to have been lost.

Mayo, A. D. Talks with teachers. Bost.,

New England Pub. Co., 1881. 5-200 p. D. cl., 75 c.

Mercer, Alex. Gardiner, D. D. Bible characters: being selections from sermons of Alex. G. Mercer, D. D. (1817-1882); with a memoir by Manton Marble. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1885. 33+335 p. por. O. cl., $2.

The twenty-two biblical characters that Dr. Mercer here discourses upon were selected from the great mass of sermons and papers that he left as especially illustrating some of his great gifts as a writer and thinker—notably his wonderful insight and vitalizing perception of character. His biographer says "they present a kind and degree of power not usually found, except among the dramatists of past days or the novelists of the present." Readers will discover in them an unusual charm, fully carrying out Dr. Mercer's reputation as a pulpit orator of rare eloquence and attainments. He was b. in Phila., 1817, d. 1882, and at the time of his death was filling the pulpit of All Saints' Chapel, Newport.

Norris, W. E. That terrible man: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1885. 3-112 p. S. (Harper's handy ser., no. 1.) pap., 25 c.

With this story is begun the publication of a new series, "which is intended to supply the best current literature in a form that shall combine the cheapness of the popular library with neatness and portability." The series will be issued weekly and include books in biography, history, travel, fiction and general literature. The aim is to make the series especially suitable for family reading, both through its literary excellence and its purity of moral tone. "That terrible man" is a clever little story by the author of "Matrimony," introducing a well-depicted character of a Russian Nihilist, who obtains a singular influence over a young English girl.

Pusey, E. B., D. D. The minor prophets; with a commentary, explanatory and practical, and introductions to the several books. V. 2. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls, 1885. 504 p. O. cl., $3.

The books embraced in this volume are Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi. See note under v. 1, "Weekly Record," P. W., April 4, 1885, [688.]

ing Plan Assoc., [R. W. Shoppell.] 1885. 40 p. il. F. pap., 20 c.
Over forty plans of houses and cottages costing but a moderate sum to build are given in this work, accompanied by full descriptive text.

Spencer, Herbert. Three essays: Laws, and the order of their discovery; origin of animal worship; political fetichism. N. Y., J. Fitzgerald, 1885. 23 p. O. (Humboldt lib., no. 68.) pap., 10 c.

Stepniak (pseud.) Russia under the Tzars; rendered into English by W. Westall. Authorized ed. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1885. 5+381 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "Underground Russia," gives in this volume another series of sketches of despotic Russia. The first part of the book describes the Russia of the past, and the reaction against despotism in 1860 resulting in the emancipation of the serfs. The second and third parts of the book deal with the struggle of the past twenty-four years of the educated classes for a broader political liberty. He draws a terrible picture of the government's attempt to crush all freedom of thought and action; the account of the prisons and Siberia, the methods of conducting political trials, etc., are terrible in the extreme.

BOOKSELLING IN SUMMER.

THE tide of travel this year, what with the rumors of war and of the pestilence on the other side of the ocean and the diversion of so many of the finer passenger steamers to transport service, is likely to set more than ever before in the direction of American instead of European summer resorts and places of interest. In very many respects this will be an economic gain to the country, and it is to be hoped that the bookselling trade, none too prosperous under present conditions, will get its fair share of the advantage. The first indication of improvement should be in the sale of American guide-books, of which our guide-book page shows a sufficient supply, and of books descriptive of the different parts of our own country. Booksellers should begin at once to make this class of books prominent on their shelves, and in show windows, so that those who are planning summer tours will look to them rather than to the alluring prospectuses of the railroads and tourists' agencies, which always show their own road as the straight line between any two given points, for a more adequate and less interested view of the attractions of rival routes than they can get from the publications of the former. A good deal ought to be done in this direction in calling to the attention of buyers, after they have made their choice of routes, the books of American literature which bear on the special places to be visited. For instance, the various volumes of Longfellow's "Poems of Places" are a delightful companion to the tourist, and take little space in his travelling satchel. The historical novels or those which, like Cooper's, are associated with special parts of the country, also constitute an interesting course of reading for summer tourists. Beside these a live bookseller ought to be able to persuade his customer to make choice at least of a good part of his summer reading from the wider stock of the local bookstore rather than to depend altogether upon the haphazard literature which the railroad news-agents press upon him.

These suggestions refer, of course, to the local bookseller who has not the summer advantage of a summer resort place. For the summer resort booksellers themselves the opportunity this year ought to be very good indeed. Their difficulty is that the cheap libraries, with their minimum of profit, overload the counters and prevent the sale of the more standard books or better editions on which there is a chance for them to make a reasonable margin. But this difficulty ought to be to a certain extent overcome by enterprising and wise management. Most of the people who go to summer resorts have money enough to pay for reasonably good books, and a wise bookseller or a clever clerk can often persuade them to buy books or editions which would be permanent additions to their home libraries when they go back, instead of the trashy or flimsy stuff which is so apt to form the body of summer reading. A word to the wise (bookseller) ought to be sufficient. But these results cannot be accomplished without work, or the work without faith. We believe a summer resort bookseller who lays in a fair stock of really good books in good cloth bindings, can make a profit for himself despite the great competition, if he only gets rightly to work and keeps at work hard enough. But this is, after all, a considerable "if."

We are now preparing our Summer Catalogue for 1885, which is planned to be an excellent medium both for the home and summer resort bookseller in making the most of summer trade. We trust that this number will not be unappreciated under the increased advantages of summer trade that promise for this year, and we call the attention of the trade to the announcement in full elsewhere.

M. ZOLA and T. B. Peterson & Bros. have had a quarrel. M. Zola is reported as complaining that the Messrs. Peterson had published a novel entitled "Nana's Daughter," written in this country by two Frenchmen, as having been written by Zola. In reply, the Petersons say that "Nana's Daughter" was not written in this country and was not published under M. Zola's name. On the contrary, it was written in Paris; it was first published as a serial in a Paris newspaper, was dedicated to M. Zola, and on the title-page of the Petersons edition MM. Sirven and Levordier were named as the authors. They state that there never was any pretence that Zola wrote this book.

ROBERTS BROTHERS' REMOVAL.

ROBERTS BROS. will remove from their old quarters on the first of June to the Silas Pierce residence, No. 3 Somerset Street. This is the first time that this firm has found it necessary to remove. Their long stay at 299 (formerly 143) Washington—about twenty-five years—has been an eventful one. Commencing with the manufacture of photograph albums, in '61, and entering the publishing field in '63, when they published the first volume of Jean Ingelow's Poems, which reached a sale of 50,000 copies in a few months, and which established their standing among the prominent publishing houses of the country, on to the present time, the old stand bears witness of notable events in publishing. In 1866 25,000 copies of "Ecce Homo" were disposed of. A year later "Ecce Deus" appeared. In 1868 appeared that wonderful book, "Little Women," which has thus far outstripped everything of its kind—over 175,000 copies having been sold. Later on appeared "An Old-Fashioned Girl," of which took 24,000 copies to supply first orders, "Little Men" with its 45,000 copies, and "Pink and White Tyranny," 30,000, all were packed and shipped in a month and a half. Other works by Miss Alcott appeared, embracing "Work," "Eight Cousins," "Rose in Bloom," etc., making over 500,000 copies of her works that have been sold. Thousands of copies of other prominent books, including the Ingraham books, "Prince of the House of David," "Pillar of Fire," and "Throne of David," have also passed through its doors. Here also the No Name Series was conceived, which now comprises 33 volumes, with a circulation of upward of 150,000 volumes. The firm consists now, as formerly, of Lewis A. Roberts and Thomas Niles, (all newspaper correspondents to the contrary notwithstanding,) and expect to excel in their new quarters, their record in the old.

FAILURE OF JAMES R. OSGOOD & CO.

THE trade learn with regret that James R. Osgood & Co., and the Heliotype Printing Company, in which the firm are partners, have been compelled to make an assignment. Late on the afternoon of the 2d inst., it is understood, a note of the firm to the National Bank of Commerce went to protest, and on the 4th notice of assignment to Robert M. Morse, Jr., as trustee for the benefit of the creditors, was issued. No exact statement of the liabilities or assets was attainable, the firm declining to speak of their affairs before the meeting of creditors, which is to take place on the 12th inst. The liabilities have been variously estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000, and the assets at from $300,000 to $400,000. The latter, however, include large quantities of plates, the market value of which is somewhat uncertain. The firm has published several expensive works by subscription, and one cause of the present embarrassment is that while these books are ready for delivery, and the firm has contracts to the amount of thousands of dollars with perfectly responsible persons, the latter, on account of the hard times, are unable to receive the books at present. Besides the firm's liabilities, its individual members are debtors to a considerable amount, mainly for borrowed capital. The liabilities of the Heliotype Printing Company will not be very large, as its expenditures were mainly for labor. The exact relationship existing between the firm and the Heliotype Company is this: Mr. James R. Osgood, through whose enterprise the heliotype process was introduced in this country, owns the plant, and leases it to the firm of James R. Osgood & Co., who, with Mr. Samuel D. Sargent, carry on the works as the Heliotype Printing Company.

The house of James R. Osgood & Co. descends from the old firm of Allen & Ticknor, which has changed successively to William D. Ticknor & Co., Ticknor, Reed & Fields, Ticknor & Fields, Fields, Osgood & Co., James R. Osgood & Co., and Houghton, Osgood & Co. In 1870 the last-named firm was formed by the consolidation of the firms of H. O. Houghton & Co., Hurd & Houghton, and James R. Osgood & Co., which consisted at that time of James R. Osgood and Benjamin H. Ticknor. Afterward this firm became Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Messrs. Osgood and Ticknor withdrawing, and together with a brother of James R. Osgood and T. B. Ticknor, brother of Benjamin H. Ticknor, starting the new firm of James R. Osgood & Co., on Tremont Street, near Boylston Street. The Ticknors are sons of the late William D. Ticknor, of the original firm of Allen & Ticknor and its immediate successors, who established themselves in the Old Corner Bookstore. The house published the works of many of the leading American writers, and it has been concerned in many noteworthy literary undertakings. It established the American Architect and still publishes it, and it was long the publishers of Our Young Folks, absorbed some years ago in the St. Nicholas Magazine.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

A NEW serial, "An Indian Summer," by W. D. Howells, will begin in the July Harper's Monthly.

A CHARACTER sketch of Lord Wolseley by Archibald Forbes is the attraction of the May number of the English Illustrated Magazine. The sketch is accompanied by an engraving from a recent photograph.

THE Publishers' Circular (London) has improved its appearance by putting on a cover, and by breaking up the editorial and news pages into columns instead of running the matter across the page as heretofore.

THE Rev. J. G. Wood is to contribute to the June Atlantic an article on "Dime Museums from a Naturalist's Point of View." Harriet Waters Preston also has a discriminating critical paper on "Mrs. Oliphant" in the same number.

AMONG the principal articles in the Magazine of American History for May are "Commodore Matthew Galbraith Perry," "The Heart of Louisiana," "The Fallacy of 1776," "The Ancient Races of America," "General Roger Enos," and "The Hungry Pilgrims." The six or eight departments of the magazine are very well managed and full of information.

THE American Advertiser Reporter is the title of a new bi-weekly sheet which purposes to give recent legal decisions having a bearing on the interests of publishers. In addition, it will give the names of new advertisers, with their proper rating, together with any changes affecting the standing of other advertisers. The office of publication is 1809-1819 North Third Avenue, New York. ($3 per year.)

THE May number of The Decorator and Furnisher is one of the most attractive and complete that this magazine has ever issued. A new cover, designed and drawn by Sarony, is the first noticeable improvement. In addition to the usual full quantity of articles and illustrations for the aid of those interested in house decoration and furnishing, either in the trades or as amateurs, there is an illustrated article upon the 7th Regiment Armory, giving six rich half-page views of the most noticeable rooms and an interesting description. There are seven pages of original and useful designs for ladies' work with full explanatory text. A full-page colored plate for ceiling decoration, and a supplement entitled "The Spirit of Night," by Napoleon Sarony, printed upon heavy plate paper are presented to every purchaser of this May number.

THE International Nautical Magazine is the title of a new illustrated monthly publication for seafaring men, shipping, and kindred interests. It will, from month to month, give under the following headings news gathered from reliable sources: "Current Events," in which will be furnished an outline of all political and general affairs which are of more than passing interest; "Monthly Record of Casualties, etc., to Shipping;" "Missing Vessels;" "Quick and Long Passages;" "Ship-building, Launches, and Trial Trips;" "Atlantic Ice Reports;" "International Meteorological Observations;" "Maritime Affairs;" "Deaths;" "Ordnance and Naval Matters;" "Marine Engineering;" "Political and General," and "Admiralty Decisions." Besides these there will be a department of "Short Yarns" and a chart of the world. Published by the McWilliams Printing Co., 81 Elm St., N. Y. (Subscription, $4.)

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

FREDERICK MULLER & Co., Amsterdam, have issued a priced catalogue, entitled "Curiosités, littéraires et artistiques." The catalogue is a very treasure-house of rare books. (88 p. O. pap.)

B. WESTERMANN & Co. have issued the second part of their valuable "Linguistic Catalogue for the Elementary and Higher Study of Languages." This part comprises works on the European languages, ancient and modern, other than Greek and Latin. (24 p. D. 10 cents, refunded on receipt of orders).

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS Co., N. Y., have issued a handy list for German colporteurs, entitled "A skunfts-Buch für Deutsche Buch-und Zeitungshändler." The catalogue contains a priced list of the most salable and profitable articles of which every dealer may safely carry a small stock. Most useful to a beginner. (96 p. T.)

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have put a new and very attractive cover, with a design by Will H. Low, on their bulletin of new publications. The design represents a Greek girl standing at a reading-desk with an open book. In the background are seen two columns supporting an arch. On the walls are scrolls holding the dates "May" and "1885," and an ornamental band holds the device, "Droit et avant."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will shortly publish Francis Parkman's, "Historical Handbook of the Northern Tour."

ALL rights in the publication of "Soule's Synonyms" have been transferred to the J. B. Lippincott Co., and the book will hereafter hail from Philadelphia.

HARPER & BROS. have in press "Louisa," a novel, by Mrs. Katherine S. Macquoid; "A Hard Knot," a novel by Charles Gibbon, and "Uncle Jack," by Walter Besant.

ROBERTS BROS. have in press a work called "London of To-Day," an illustrated handbook dealing chiefly with the amusements of the London season, written by Charles Eyre Pascoe.

JAS. R. OSGOOD & Co. had announced, just before their failure, for publication this autumn, the "Life, Letters, and Journals of Henry W. Longfellow," by his brother Samuel, in two large octavo volumes.

LORD TENNYSON has sent to Mrs. Mary B. Dodge, the author of "The Gray Masque," (published recently by D. Lothrop & Co.,) an autograph letter, in which he speaks of the book in most complimentary terms.

THE LUTHERAN PUBLICATION SOCIETY, Philadelphia, have published "First Principles of the Reformation; or, the Ninety-five Theses and the Three Primary Works of Dr. Martin Luther," edited with theological and historical introductions, by Henry Wace, D.D., and C. A. Bucheim.

A MEETING of the Philadelphia members of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, will be held at the office of Mr. E. Meeks, 1002 Walnut St. to consider the "Reserve Fund Question," and also to elect delegates to the annual meeting of the association.

J. S. OGILVIE & Co. have published No. 17 of "Ogilvie's Popular Reading," containing the following seven stories: "The Cloven Foot," by Miss M. E. Braddon; "Calamity Jane," by Reckless Ralph; "The Young Heiress," by Edward Kirk; "Vivienne," "Foiled," by Mrs. M. A. Holt; "See-Saw, Marjorie Daw," and "Ninety-nine Readings and Recitations," by J. S. Ogilvie.

G. HINSTORFF, 48 Dearborn St., Chicago, will publish in June, Max Nordau's new book "Paradoxe" in which the problems of psychology, physiology, anthropology and sociology, are presented in such a form that they may be understood by the unscientific reader. The author's previous work "Conventionellen Lügen," has already gone through the third edition in this country, and is said to have sold abroad to the extent of 100,000 copies.

THE YOUNG CHURCHMAN CO., 434 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, have just issued a pamphlet entitled, "The Source of Life and Immortality," a doctrinal and practical essay, by Rev. E. W. Spalding. They also announce that they have become the purchasers of the entire publishing business of the "Living Church Co.," except the Living Church paper, and that they will publish hereafter the "Living Church Annual," the "Living Church Tracts," the "Evening Prayer Leaflets," Dr. Ewer's "What is the Anglican Church?" and Dr. Dix's "Oxford Movement."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT CO. have in press "The Lady with the Rubies," a novel by E. Marlitt, translated by Mrs. A. L. Wister; "A Model Wife," a new novel, by G. I. Cervus, author of "White Feather;" and a work on "Practice of Pharmacy," designed as a guide to the pharmacist and physician, and a text-book for students, by Joseph P. Remington, Professor of Pharmacy in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, which will have over 400 illustrations. They have made arrangements with Chapman & Hall of London, whereby they will have the American market for the Ashburton edition of Thomas Carlyle's works. It will be complete in seventeen volumes, and will be handsomely printed and contain many portraits and illustrations. The volumes will be published monthly.

FUNK & WAGNALLS have in press "Historical Lights," by Charles E. Little, comprising six thousand extracts from standard histories and biographies, illustrating twenty thousand topics, especially arranged for ministers, lecturers, public speakers, editors, lawyers, and all who have occasion to use illustrations drawn from historical literature; the third and last volume of Dr. Joseph Parker's work on "Apostolic Life," a series of discourses on "The Acts of the Apostles" from chapter xx. to xxviii.; "Sunrise on the Soul," by Dr. Hugh Smith, author of "Here and Beyond;" "Elijah, the Reformer: a ballad Epic," a volume of religious poems, by Dr. George Lansing Taylor; "The Coming of the Lord," a brief, simple, and positive form of the teaching of Scripture on this subject by Dr. John C. Rankin.

THE JOHN BURNS PUB. CO. of St. Louis have just issued "A Knight Templar Abroad," by W. Harlan Cord, Esq., of Flemingsburg, Ky. It is a record of a visit to Europe in 1883, when the author, together with the Apollo Commandery of Chicago, made a pilgrimage to the principal cities and famous places in the old world. A prominent feature of the book is a pen-picture of the Ancient Temple House in Paris, also an historical sketch of the Order during the Middle Ages, etc. The same house has lately published "Man: his Origin, Nature and Destiny," by E. L. Dohoney, of Texas; "Wayside Notes and Fireside Thoughts," by Eudora (Mrs. E. L. South); also, "Letters of Travel in Scotland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Austria and France, with observations on the habits, manners and customs of their people."

THE CENTURY CO. have now ready the bound volume of the Century Magazine covering the period from November 1884 to April, 1885. "During these six months," the publishers claim, "the magazine has nearly doubled its circulation—twenty-four editions and more than a million and a quarter copies of these six numbers having been printed." With this volume began the famous series of articles on the "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," with its many illustrations and maps. "The Bostonians," by Henry James, was also commenced in this volume. Among the noted contributors to this volume are Washington Gladden, Edward Eggleston, W. D. Howells, George Cable, Joel C. Harris, E. C. Stedman, G. E. Waring, Mark Twain, Ernest Ingersoll, Frank R. Stockton, Mrs. Jas. T. Fields, O. B. Frothingham, Bishop Potter, Horace E. Scudder and John Burroughs. In the way of illustration the lead is taken by the six drawings by Elihu Vedder from his accompaniment to the verses of Omar Khayyâm.

F. A. BROCKHAUS, Leipzig, announces a supplementary volume to the thirteenth edition of the "Conversations-Lexikon," with illustrations and maps, containing all the important changes which have occurred during the publication of the thirteenth edition in the years 1882-'86, together with biographies of new notabilities, etc.; also a new edition of K. F. W. Wander's monumental work, "Deutsches Sprichwörter Lexikon," the most complete work of its kind ever published. This house is also issuing an important work in "Druckschriften des XV. bis XVIII. Jahrhunderts in getreuen nachbildun-gen," edited by the "Direction der Reichsdruckerei," with the co-operation of Drs. F. Lippmann and R. Dohme. In this work will be given specimens of type in use in all civilized European countries from Guttenberg's day to the beginning of the present century. There will also be given reproductions of title-pages, colophons, chapter-heads, as well as facsimiles of xylographic specimens, especially of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The work is issued as a superb folio, at ten marks a part.

NEW POEMS BY JEAN INGELow.

Poems of The Old Days and The New.

By JEAN INGELow. From advance sheets directly from the author. One volume, 16mo, handsome cloth, gilt top. Price, $1.25.

Miss Ingelow makes a new departure in this volume, and its poems are more like the poems in her first volume than any she has since written. It is quite likely to revive enthusiasm about her, and to widen her popularity. The poems are entirely new and are published by us for and in her interest.

Landscape.

By PHILIP GILBERT HAMERTON, author of "The Intellectual Life," "Graphic Arts," etc. One volume, square 12mo, cloth. Price, $2.00.

Mr. Hamerton, in sending to his publishers, Messrs. Roberts Brothers, a complete set of proofs for the library edition, says: "I have done all in my power to make 'Landscape' a readable book. It is not mere letter-press to illustrations, or anything of the kind, but a book which, I hope, anybody who takes any interest in landscape would be glad to possess."

III.

The Fall of the Great Republic.

1886-88.

By Sir HENRY STANDISH COVERDALE, (Intendant for the Board of European Administration in the Province of New York.)

"O, Liberty! Liberty! How many crimes are committed in thy name!"

By permission of the Bureau of Press Censorship, New York, 1895.

16mo, paper covers. Price, 30 cents.

Extract from the opening page: "It is my purpose to relate the fall of the Great Republic. I shall be brief, yet shall omit no detail necessary to a perfect comprehension of the causes which underlay the catastrophe and the events through which it came to pass. I shall describe the political and social revolution by which in a few months a nation of grand promise, and with a history unequalled for its century of growth and achievement, was transformed into the most pitiful wreck of all time."

London of To-Day.

An Illustrated Handbook for the Season. By CHARLES EYRE PASCOE. 12mo, flexible cloth covers. Price, $1.50.

London of to-day is, as to its greater part, a new city. It cannot be satisfactorily viewed from an arm-chair. It must be seen and known to be enjoyed. In seeking to indicate the most convenient and pleasant way of doing this, this handbook will be found both practical and entertaining, and so not undeserving the patronage of way-farers, tourists, and holiday-visitors generally.

Ruskin's Works

reduced to $18

ILLUSTRATED LIBRARY EDITION.

An edition worthy of RUSKIN,—peerless as he is among living Masters of the English Tongue and of Universal Art,—and, also, by reason of its small cost, is within the reach of every cultured home.

We have paid $600 in cash for one complete set of RUSKIN'S Works—some of them being very scarce, and the early editions containing the best impressions of the fine illustrations and many colored plates, being very highly valued by connoisseurs—in order that with the best modern resources of the printers' and engravers' arts, we might reproduce an American edition thoroughly satisfactory to admirers of RUSKIN, and yet at a low price.

We count this publication as the most honorable—the grandest—achievement of The Literary Revolution, and rejoice greatly that we are able to offer this magnificent edition to the American people; and we glory not more in the author and the treasures he has given us, than in the fact that there is a great and growing American constituency that appreciates RUSKIN.

The edition we present will be complete in 15 vols., crown octavo. It will contain ALL the writings of RUSKIN which are of more than transient or local interest—will contain ALL that is included in any other American edition heretofore published, and nearly 3,000 pages additional. Numerous illustrations, including many fine colored plates, will be presented, far greater in number and much superior in quality to other American editions which have heretofore cost many times the price of this.

Ruskin's Select Works.

Though all admirers of RUSKIN will, of course, desire his complete works, if it is possible to procure them; yet by reason of their magnitude and consequent comparatively high cost they may be temporarily out of the reach of some. To meet the wants of such customers we shall publish an edition of his "Select Works" separately in eight volumes, for the net price of $9.60 for the set. The "specimen volume" mentioned below will be included in this set. For further list of the contents see specimen pages.

A SPECIMEN VOLUME.

The entire set of 15 volumes will be ready not later than August 1, 1885. It will be sold only in sets (and select works as below), at the price of $18.00—with this exception: To make widely known the superb qualities of the work, we propose to offer, separately, ONE SAMPLE VOLUME containing four of RUSKIN'S most popular works, namely:

The Seven Lamps of Architecture.—Finely Illustrated.
Lectures on Architecture and Painting.—Illustrated.

The Queen of The Air.
The Ethics of The Dust.

All of these are bound in one handsome crown octavo volume, fine cloth, beveled boards, gilt tops, uniform with the set. This volume is NOW READY. On condition that the order is received on or before June 1, 1885, we will sell this volume (only) at the reduced price of 85 cents—15 cents extra if ordered by mail. Purchasers of this volume will be allowed, of course, to complete their sets, but not at this reduced rate.

Specimen PAGES FREE. A copy of the April number of The Book-Worm (monthly 25 cents a year), which contains a specimen chapter from RUSKIN'S graphic pen, sent free on request.

Fair Terms. Books not under $5.00 in value are sent to anyone for examination before payment on reasonable evidence of good faith. 148-page illustrated and descriptive Catalogue of our immense list of Standard Books sent for 4 cents. Mention this paper.

"AND ALL HIS WONDROUS LOVE PROCLAIM."

WONDROUS LOVE

Is the Title of the

NEW SINGING BOOK

By Geo. F. ROOT and C. C. CASE, authors of "Praise Delight."

THE WORDS

Throughout the entire book are strong, helpful, encouraging and full of the "Wondrous Love" of Him whose praises they proclaim.

THE MUSIC

Is fresh, vigorous, and inspiring, and has the added charm of exactly expressing the sentiments of the words with which it is associated. It has been especially prepared to meet the increasing demand for bright and harmonious music that can be readily taken up and learned by the whole school.

192 pages. Printed on elegant, high finish paper and handsomely bound in boards. Price, 35 cents by mail, postpaid: $3.60 a dozen by express, not prepaid. The Publishers will mail a single sample copy to any address, post-paid, for 30 cents.
